

The logo for New Haven Chamber Events features a small dark square to the left of the text. "New Haven" is written in a light-colored, cursive script font. Below it, "CHAMBER EVENTS" is written in a bold, dark, sans-serif font.

The Greater New Haven Chamber of Commerce will hold a Meet the Technology Council event. Participants will meet members of the council, who will discuss their areas of expertise in technology and will offer advice on achieving business goals. 8-9:30 a.m. September 18 at GNHCC, 900 Chapel St., New Haven. Free for members, $10 others. Registration. Call 203-782-4342 or visit www.gnhcc.com.

The Middlesex County Chamber of Commerce will hold a Member Breakfast, featuring Lawrence Fish of the Royal Bank of Scotland. 7:45-9 a.m. September 21 at Crowne Plaza Hotel, 100 Berlin Rd., Cromwell. $18 members & seniors, $28 others. Registration. Call 860-347-6924 or e-mail info@middlesexchamber.com.

The Greater New Haven Chamber of Commerce presents a workshop on Exporting Basics. Laura Jaworski of the state's Department of Economic & Community Development and Sharon Bongiovanni of the U.S. Department of Commerce will discuss how Connecticut companies, particularly small- and mid-sized businesses, can benefit from global business opportunities, how to enter new markets and increase market share. 8-9:30 a.m. September 27 at 900 Chapel St., New Haven. Members free, $10 others. Registration. Call 203-782-4342 or visit www.gnhcc.com.

The Middlesex County Chamber of Commerce will host a breakfast seminar: Is It Safe? Expanding Your Ability To Discuss the Tough Stuff. In business, sensitive subjects can be difficult to discuss. Learn how to risk stepping into that dangerous territory to cover issues that are critical to the health of your business. Paul Sessions, director of the Center for Family Business at the University of New Haven, will offer attendees ways to approach difficult subjects and develop new tactics for connecting with people across gender, cultural and generational differences. Participants will learn techniques for creating "safe spaces" to talk with one another. 8-10 a.m. October 9 at 393 Main St., Middletown. $25 members, $35 non-members. Registration. Call 860-347-6924 or visit www.middlesexchamber.com.